RECORDING SECRETARY'S REPORT.

ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 2, 1901.

To the President and Members of the New England Society:

The Recording Secretary presents herewith his fifth and last annual report of the work accomplished and the business transacted by the Society for the year ending to-night.

During the past season meetings have been held regularly upon the first Saturday evening of the month, according to the constitutional requirement. The largest attendance was in October when fifty-three were present; the smallest in April when an unusually severe storm kept away all but twenty-four, the average for the year being thirty-seven. This number is somewhat smaller than the average of the preceding season, but it does not suggest any falling off in the interest of the members, for each meeting has been well attended and the subjects discussed have been timely and important, leading to exchange of views and opinions at once entertaining and helpful.

During the year there were twenty-one admissions to membership, as follows: Rev. Walter Reid Hunt, Judge Frederic Adams, Edward W. Peckham, Rev. F. W. Hodgdon, Dr. Eugene G. West, Albert C. Wall, F. W. Callaway, William E. Drake, Ralph H. Beach, John B. Dodd, Newton B. Phelps, James R. T. McCarroll, George Merck, John W. Dunn, Theodore Woodbury, Hamilton S. Corwin, Frank H. Jamison, Frank C. Hoyt, N. D. Moulds, H. A. Hickok and Harold Roorback.

The number of resignations was five, there being eight the previous year, while the deaths reported were four, one more than the preceding season. As the additions exceeded those of a year ago by four, the net gain for the Society membership was twelve; double the net result for 1899-1900.

The Committee work of the Society—one of its special features—was kept up to the high standard of former years, and at nearly every meeting timely and carefully prepared reports were presented, eliciting general and interesting discussions.

Among the subjects brought up for consideration, upon which special investigation and inquiry were made, were the law respecting the lease and grants of riparian rights; the question of polygamy and the best means for its suppression; uniform laws respecting marriage and divorce; the sanitary condition of Orange; and the advisability of consolidating the spring municipal with the national and State elections in November.

The plan of converting the palisades of the Hudson into an interstate park reservation, thus securing from destruction this remarkable natural wonder, was ably seconded by the Society and a special delegation was sent to Trenton during the session of the Legislature to urge prompt and proper action in connection with the work of the Interstate Commission. It is not too much to say that to the representatives of this organization, who performed such excellent service at the capital, is due in some large measure the co-operative assistance offered by the State.

Another subject brought before the members and still in committee is a proposed scheme to develop the property in the neighborhood of the Stickler Memorial Building of the Orange Free Library, a location where some public buildings may be erected, making not only a proper setting for the magnificent library, but also a small park or plaza to beautify and make attractive that vicinity. And recently the attempts of the North Jersey Traction Company to gain possession of Central avenue for a new trolley line led to renewed efforts on the Society's part to secure Park and Central avenues and turn them over to the Park Commission as part of the county system.

During the winter an excellent course of three lectures was furnished by the Society through its efficient Lecture Committee, the speakers and subjects being Dr. Henry G. Peabody, who took his audience "Around Historic Boston"; Prof. David B. Todd, who described the "Eclipse of 1900"; and Cleveland Moffett, who exhibited magnificent reproductions of the famous Tisot pictures. These lectures were beautifully and accurately illustrated by the stereopticon, and formed one of the most interesting features of the Society's year.

In addition to the formal lectures the members were favored at two of the meetings by addresses from among our own number. In December Judge J. Franklin Fort spoke on "Penal Reform," describing in a most entertaining manner the progress which has been made, especially in New Jersey, in the treatment and reform of criminals; and in the spring Mr. Robert S. Sinclair outlined the plan and attempts of South Orange to abate the mosquito nuisance by means of crude petroleum, giving many interesting facts regarding the development and life of the insect pest and the methods to be followed in its extermination.

In October, 1881, within the first decade of its foundation, the New England Society, in common with all patriotic and law-abiding citizens, was compelled, in consequence of the fiendish act of a fanatical partisan, to record the death of James A. Garfield, President of the United States, and to adopt resolutions of regret at the sudden taking off of the Executive and of condemnation of the assassin. Twenty years after, at the same initial meeting of the season, the usual joyous beginning of a year's work was saddened by the death of William McKinley, the beloved chief of a united and prosperous people, which had occurred but a short time before as the result of a cowardly attack by a weak-minded, misled anarchist. Resolutions were adopted expressing the Society's high appreciation of the sterling qualities of the man and the wisdom and ability of the statesman and executive, and recording the "deep abhorrence of the crime and of those whose teachings inspire such crimes."

On the evening of December 22, the members and their guests met in Upper Music Hall, where under the most favorable auspices and circumstances they appro-privately commemorated and fostered the virtues of the Fathers of New England, and did their best to cultivate the social relations which are prescribed by the fundamental law of the Society. The speakers of the evening were President Schurman, of Cornell University; Rev. Dr. Leander T. Chamberlin, of New York; Hon. William M. Ivins, of New York; Charles J. Bonaparte, Esq., of Baltimore, and Prof. James G. Crosswell, of New York. It is gratifying to report that the dinner was a success financially as well as socially, and that the committee was able to turn over to the Society a balance—not large it is true, but upon the right side of the ledger.

In such a way the New England Society has passed its year. Nothing unusual has occurred to especially distinguish this season from others, but the wise and conservative action upon important matters of municipal, state and national affairs, the careful and truthful presentation of facts, and the very evident absence of selfish motive in its acts have given it an increasing power in originating and directing public opinion, and have widened its influence for good in this community.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD H. DUTCHER,

Secretary.

DECEMBER 31, 1901.

CONSTITUTION.

I.

The Society shall be known as THE NEW ENGLAND SOCIETY OF ORANGE. Its objects shall be to commemorate and foster the virtues of the Fathers of New England, and to cultivate social relations among its members.

II.

Any person of full age, being the native, or the son of a native, of any of the New England States, and any other person who may sympathize with the objects of this Society, may become a member on being elected according to the Constitution and By-Laws thereof, and paying the sum of five dollars to the Treasurer.

III.

The property and concerns of said Society shall be managed and directed by a Board of Officers, members of said Society, consisting of a President, two Vice-Presidents, six Counsellors, a Secretary and a Treasurer, to be elected and appointed annually, at such time and place, within the city of Orange, as shall be provided for by the By-Laws of said Association ; and to hold office until their successors are duly elected. The Board shall have power to fill its own vacancies.

IV.

Amendments to this Constitution may be proposed at the Annual Meeting, but shall be acted upon only after the lapse of three months, and shall require for their adoption a two-thirds vote of the members present at a meeting called for that purpose, or at the next Annual Meeting.

BY-LAWS.

MEMBERSHIP.

I.

The total number of active members shall not exceed four hundred.

II.

The name of any person duly proposed and seconded for membership, by letters addressed to the Membership Committee, shall be posted on the Bulletin Board, for a period of not less than six weeks previous to action thereon. Such person shall become a member upon election, as provided in article XIV., and upon the payment of an initiation fee of five dollars, together with the annual dues for the current year, to the Treasurer, within thirty days after the notification of his election. The annual fee shall be five dollars, and shall be payable on the first day of April. But any person so elected may become a life member upon the payment of the sum of fifty dollars at one time. All members shall be required to sign the Constitution.

Honorary members may be elected at the Annual Meeting of the Society by the unanimous vote of the members present.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

III.

The election of officers and of members of the Committee on Membership, as hereinafter provided, shall take place at the Annual Meeting. Immediately after the meeting has been called to order, the presiding officer shall appoint a judge of election and two tellers, who shall forthwith declare the polls open and shall keep them open for the period of one hour. The Recording Secretary shall furnish printed ballots, which shall contain the names of all persons to be voted for who shall have been nominated by the Nominating Committee, as hereinafter provided, and also ballots containing the names of any other nominees, upon the written request of ten members of the Society. The judge and tellers shall proceed to count and announce the result of the ballot as soon as possible after the polls are closed, and the newly elected officers shall be installed forthwith. In the event of a failure to elect at any ballot, a further ballot shall be taken in such manner as the majority of the members present shall direct. A majority vote shall be necessary to elect the President, but a plurality vote shall elect in all other cases. The order of the Counsellors shall be determined by the number of votes received respectively.

BOARD OF OFFICERS.

IV.

The Board of Officers elect shall meet, within ten days after the Annual Meeting, for the appointment of its own committees, etc., of the Corresponding Secretary and the Curator for the year ensuing ; a majority of the Board constituting a quorum for the transaction of business. At other meetings the Board may be governed by its own rules ; but the approval of a majority shall be necessary to all appropriations of money.

V.

The President, or, in his absence, either of the Vice-Presidents, or, if these three officers are absent, any two Counsellors, may call a special meeting of the Board of Officers.

VI.

The Board of Officers may, by the concurring votes of two-thirds of all its members, given viva voce, and entered on the Minutes, suspend from enjoying the privileges of the Society any member who may be guilty of gross misbehavior or scandalous or dishonest conduct. Such suspension shall continue until revoked by a vote of two-thirds of the members of the Board of Officers, or until the suspended member is restored to the Society by the votes of two-thirds of the members present at an annual meeting of the Society. The Society has the right to expel for cause on the vote of two-thirds present at any meeting, after due presentation by the Board and notice to the party charged.

VII.

There shall be two Standing Committees of the Board of Officers, each composed of five members. One shall be called The Committee of Public Welfare, whose duty it shall be to examine and report upon such questions of local public interest as may from time to time be referred to it by the Society. The other shall be called The Committee of Charities, whose duty it shall be faithfully to distribute and expend, according to the Constitution and By-Laws of the Society, all moneys appropriated by the Society or the Board of Officers for charitable purposes and received by the Committee for that object.

VIII.

The Board of Officers may appropriate a portion of the annual income of the Society, not exceeding one-tenth, to the relief of indigent and unfortunate persons of New England origin. All other appropriations shall be made by the Society; but such as exceed fifty dollars, except for regular expenses, must receive the approval of the Board.

DUTIES OF OFFICERS.

IX.

The President, or if he is absent, the First Vice-President, or if they are both absent, the Second Vice-President, or if these three officers are absent, a chairman selected by the meeting, shall preside at the meetings of the Society and of the Board of Officers.

X.

The Recording Secretary shall keep a correct account, in a book provided for that purpose, of the proceedings of the Society and of the Board of Officers, notify members of the times of meeting, and perform such other duties as the Board shall direct. He shall advise the Committee on Membership of all vacancies, and notify the new members of their election as soon as informed thereof.

XI.

The Corresponding Secretary shall conduct the correspondence with other societies, shall be ex-officio a member of the Lecture Committee, and shall edit the Society's publications.

XII.

The Treasurer shall have the custody of the funds and securities of the Society, and pay and dispose of the same in pursuance of the orders of the Society, or of the Board of Officers, as hereinafter provided, and shall render an account thereof as often as called upon to do so, and regularly at the Annual Meeting. He shall receive the membership fees and dues. The annual dues shall be payable on the first day of April, or, in the case of new members (who shall not pay twice within the same calendar year), as soon as they qualify. The Treasurer shall also report to the Recording Secretary monthly the names of all candidates who shall have qualified or who shall have failed to qualify. He shall also report any member who persistently neglects to pay his annual dues, whereupon his name shall be stricken from the roll.

XIII.

The Curator shall have charge of the Library and of the objects of curiosity or of science which may be acquired by the Society, and shall co-operate with the Committee on Rules and Rooms, in framing regulations for his special department.

COMMITTEES.

XIV.

There shall be a Membership Committee, consisting of nine members, which shall be elected by ballot at the regular meeting in June, 1888, and shall be divided by lot into three classes of three members each; the terms of office of each shall be, respectively, six months, a year and six months, and two years and six months, and thereafter the term of office of each class elected shall be three years.

Members to replace the outgoing class shall be elected in each year by the Society at its Annual Meeting, as hereinbefore provided. No elective officer shall be a member of this Committee, and the names of its members shall be posted in a conspicuous place in the Society's rooms. No member of the Committee shall propose or second the nomination of any candidate for membership in the Society. The duty of the Committee shall be to consider the names of any persons who may have been proposed and seconded for membership as provided in Section II. The proceedings of the Committee shall be secret and confidential. If, after due inquiry, the application shall be approved by a vote of the Committee, the names of the persons proposed shall be presented to the Society at a regular meeting; whereupon a ballot shall be taken and the candidate shall be declared elected, provided not more than five negative nor less than ten affirmative votes are cast.

The election of each new member shall be immediately reported to the Secretary and Treasurer, and his name shall be publicly posted for a period of sixty days thereafter.

XV.

There shall be a Committee on Rules and Rooms of five members; an Auditing Committee of two, to audit the accounts of the Treasurer; a Library Committee of five, of whom the Curator shall be one; a Lecture Committee of five, of whom the Corresponding Secretary shall be one; a Committee on Local History; a Committee on Amendments of three; and a Committee on the Celebration of Forefathers' Day of five—all appointed annually by the Society on the President's nomination. These committees shall report to the Society at the Annual Meeting and as often as shall be deemed necessary.

XVI.
